Dossin is partner and general manager of DGWB Advertising & Communications. As an agency managing partner, she helps clients including Dole, Toshiba, Hilton Garden Inn and CHOC use communications to solve their business problems using everything from traditional advertising, social media, events and public relations.

Dossin currently serves on the board of Working Wardrobes and has previously held executive board positions on SchoolPower and American Marketing International Network. She is a graduate of the University of Cape Town, South Africa. A native of South Africa, she and her husband Etienne have two sons (Luke and Dominic) and have called Laguna Beach home for 28 years.

A Laguna Beach resident since 2007, Harryman is inspired by the broad support the Community Foundation offers to Laguna Beach nonprofit organizations and beyond. He volunteers locally with LagunaTunes Community Chorus, St. Mary's Episcopal Church and the annual No Square Theatre production of Lagunatics where he portrays City Manager John Pietig's on stage alter ego or a spoof of solo artist Hershey Felder.

Angie Miller, an Atlanta, Georgia transplant came to reside in Laguna Beach in 1989 after attending Chapman University where she received a degree in Fine Arts. Angie is the owner of Miller and Associates, which specializes in corporate advertising, design and promotions. Additionally, she is the vice president of Fun is First, Inc., a destination management and corporate event planning company, known to locals for producing the grand opening celebration of Montage Laguna Beach.

Miller is founding board member of Semester at Sea's Alumni Board of Directors and often joins the group at sea to serve as a mentor to students.

Laguna Beach Community Foundation's executive director Dan Pingaro says, "I continue to be inspired by the dedication and commitment to Laguna Beach nonprofits by our current board of trustees and now, our newest members. We are so very fortunate to add Mandi, Rob and Angie to our esteemed board of trustees and welcome their enthusiasm and expertise wholeheartedly."
